

Australian Junior Chess Championships 2008

SUGGESTED ALTERNATIVE ACCOMMODATION

Revised 8 August 2007

This list contains details of accommodation which we believe may be suitable for competitors and accompanying families. A wide range of accommodation – from fairly cheap to moderately expensive – has been included, but we have not examined the upper end of the accommodation market (five-star hotels, etc.).

Disclaimers:

- The compilers of this list can accept no responsibility for the quality of the accommodation listed – what is acceptable to some may not suit others.
- You get what you pay for – don't expect five-star accommodation for $40 or $50 a night.
- Rates shown were those applicable when this list was compiled, and may change – please check the rates before you make your booking.
- The tournament organisers will not be providing supervision, except at the playing venue; please ensure that young children are properly supervised at other times.

For a more complete list of accommodation alternatives, please see the NRMA Accommodation Directory (or the many internet-based accommodation directories). There are many other hotels, motels, and so on – of various standards – in the general area of the playing venue, and many further afield. The playing venue is close to Edgecliff railway station, and can easily be reached from there by bus; so it is easily accessible from most suburbs.

Early reservation is advised, as accommodation is heavily booked in January.
